Two Emerging Faith Formation Roles

Current Roles

1. Developing religious content
2. Designing programming
3. Managing programming
4. Teaching/Facilitating programming

NEW Roles

- ◆ Learning Architects designing learning environments—architecture
- ◆ Curating religious content and experiences

What is Content Curation (Beth Kanter)

Content curation is the process of sorting through the vast amounts of content on the web and presenting it in a meaningful and organized way around a specific theme.

- The work involves sifting, sorting, arranging, and publishing information.
- A content curator picks the best content that is important and relevant to share with their community.
- It isn't unlike what a museum curator does to produce an exhibition: They identify the theme, they provide the context, they decide which paintings to hang on the wall, how they should be annotated, and how they should be displayed for the public.

Faith Formation Curators

A Faith Formation Curator:

is someone who continually finds, groups, evaluates, organizes, and shares the best and most relevant content and experiences on a specific topic to match the needs of a specific audience.

Curated Faith Formation

Curating Content & Experiences

1. Church Programs & Activities
2. Denominational Resources
3. Community Programs & Activities
4. People Resources
5. Print, Audio, Video Resources
6. Art, Drama, Music
7. Websites, Courses, Blogs
8. Apps & Digital Resources

Leading & Facilitating Innovation

Leadership 1.0 (Susan Lang)

- Organizational—Think hierarchical organization flow-charts. A strong emphasis was placed on putting the correct structure in place.
- Centralized—Denominations were generally the central holders of resources and information, which they dispersed from a given location.
- Authority-based—Established authorities and expertise provided the answers to questions.
- Agenda-driven—Ministry grew out of a set agenda and often used a “command and control” model.

Leadership 2.0 (Susan Lang)

Leadership 2.0 is growing out of the post-Christendom and the Internet age. The shape of relational, networked leadership is still emerging and will be very contextual. Leadership 2.0 is:

- Relational—The focus is on developing and nurturing relationships and links.
- Decentralized—Resources are distributed throughout a networked congregation and ministry. Each person is recognized as a connector to his or her own resources and networks.
- Collaborative—Collaboration builds on conversations and recognizes that we are all teachers, we are all learners, and we are always stronger together than we are alone.
- Focused on emergence—Recognizes that discernment is important for leaders, because God's presence and action among us emerge and often change over time.

Management vs. Leadership

MANAGEMENT

- Planning
- Budgeting
- Organizing
- Staffing
- Measuring
- Problem-solving
- Doing what we know how to do exceptionally well
- Constantly producing reliable, dependable results

LEADERSHIP

- Establishing direction
- Aligning people
- Motivating people
- Inspiring
- Mobilizing people to achieve astonishing results
- Propelling us into the future

How People Change

People change what they do less because they are given analysis that shifts their thinking than because they are shown a truth that influences their feelings.

(John Kotter)

Kotter's 8-Step Change Process

EIGHT STEPS TO TRANSFORMING YOUR ORGANIZATION

- 1 Establishing a Sense of Urgency
  - Examining market and competitive realities
  - Identifying and discussing crises, potential crises, or major opportunities
- 2 Forming a Powerful Guiding Coalition
  - Assembling a group with enough power to lead the change effort
  - Encouraging the group to work together as a team
- 3 Creating a Vision
  - Creating a vision to help direct the change effort
  - Developing strategies for achieving that vision
- 4 Communicating the Vision
  - Using every vehicle possible to communicate the new vision and strategies
  - Teaching new behaviors by the example of the guiding coalition
- 5 Empowering Others to Act on the Vision
  - Getting rid of obstacles to change
  - Changing systems or structures that seriously undermine the vision
  - Encouraging risk taking and nontraditional ideas, activities, and actions
- 6 Planning for and Creating Short-Term Wins
  - Planning for visible performance improvements
  - Creating those improvements
  - Recognizing and rewarding employees involved in the improvements
- 7 Consolidating Improvements and Producing Still More Change
  - Using increased credibility to change systems, structures, and policies that don't fit the vision
  - Hiring, promoting, and developing employees who can implement the vision
  - Reinvigorating the process with new projects, themes, and change agents
- 8 Institutionalizing New Approaches
  - Articulating the connections between the new behaviors and corporate success
  - Developing the means to ensure leadership development and succession

Prototyping & Piloting

Implement your project through small scale prototyping – often with a small group of your target audience.

1. Identify a group within the target audience for piloting or a limited launch of a project in order to test the project.
2. Implement the project and get regular feedback on its implementation and effectiveness.
3. Develop leaders through the piloting phase so that they can be involved in the wider launch of the project.

Implementation Timeline

Re-design</li></ol>	<ol style="list-style-type: none"><li>1. Expand reach to wider audience</li><li>2. Continued evaluation</li></ol>	<ol style="list-style-type: none"><li>1. Integrate into regular offerings</li><li>2. Continue expansion</li></ol>

Switch: How to Change Things When Change is Hard

A Framework for Change

Direct the Rider (the conscious mind), eliminating what looks like resistance but is more often a lack of clarity by providing crystal-clear direction.

1. Following the bright spots: investigate what's working and clone it.
2. Script the critical moves: don't think big picture, think in terms of specific behaviors.
3. Point to the destination: change is easier when you know where you're going and why it's worth it.

A Framework for Change

Motivate the Elephant (the subconscious), eliminating what looks like laziness but is more often exhaustion by engaging emotions to get people on the same path as you.

1. Find the feeling: knowing something isn't enough to cause change. Make people feel something.
2. Shrink the change: break down the change until it no longer spooks the Elephant.
3. Grow your people: cultivate a sense of identity and instill the growth mindset.

A Framework for Change

Shape the Path (the situation), eliminating what looks like a people problem but is more often a situation problem, by making the environment more conducive to the change you seek.

1. Tweak the environment: when the situation changes, the behavior changes. So change the situation.
2. Build habits: when behavior is habitual, it's "free"—it doesn't tax the Rider. Look for ways to encourage habits.
3. Rally the herd: behavior is contagious. Help it spread.

Things to Remember

1. Follow the bright spots: investigate what's working and clone it.
2. Script the critical moves: don't think big picture, think in terms of specific behaviors. Shrink the change.
3. Point to the destination: change is easier when you know where you're going and why it's worth it.
4. Find the feeling: knowing something isn't enough to cause change. Make people feel something. Build an emotional and rational case for change.

Anchoring Change in the Culture

Culture changes only after you have successfully altered people's actions, after the new behavior produces some group benefit for a period of time, and after people see the connection between the new actions and the performance improvement.

(John Kotter)

Others can better write about Nelson Mandela's impact on the world stage, on how he stood up for the dignity of all people and on how he changed our world.

For those that seek to make a change in the world, whether global or local, one lesson of his life is this:

You can.

You can make a difference.

You can stand up to insurmountable forces.

You can put up with far more than you think you can.

Your lever is far longer than you imagine it is, if you choose to use it.

If you don't require the journey to be easy or comfortable or safe, you can change the world.

(Seth Godin)
